

Bug Report - Privacy Policy

Effective Date & Version

Effective Date: June 8, 2025

Version: 1.0

What Data Is Accessed

Bug Report may access the following categories of data only with your explicit permission:

- Device Info: To show how apps fingerprint your device
- App Usage / Installed Apps: To visualize behavior-based targeting
- Advertising ID: To illustrate ad personalization practices
- Location: To demonstrate how apps use geolocation
- Contacts: To show how metadata from contacts may be accessed
- Clipboard Content: To help detect clipboard sniffing practices
- Motion/Sensor Data: To demonstrate use of sensors for analytics or tracking
- Network Info (IP/Wi-Fi): To show how apps may use network data for profiling

All accessed data is used only for local analysis and remains on your device.

How Data Is Handled

- No Account Needed: The app works without registration or login.
- No Cloud Upload: Your data never leaves your phone.
- Offline Support: Bug Report functions even without internet access.
- User Control: You can clear, export, or disable data access at any time from the app settings.

Advertising & Personalization

Bug Report displays ads using Unity Ads and Google AdMob.

These ad networks may access certain identifiers (e.g., Advertising ID) to serve personalized or contextual ads, in accordance with their own privacy policies.

You can disable ad personalization: - In Bug

Report app settings - From your device's

system ad preferences

We do not knowingly sell or share your personal data.
